BRANKLET BOAT SHOE

(WZ-MSF001)

The boat shoe is the “go to” product in every sailor’s kit bag. Setting this 2-eyelet classic above the rest is achieved by taking the moccasin traditional styling, embellishing it with premium materials and components, then utilising the most robust construction techniques to deliver you sailing shoes with engineering excellence. WUZZOS take pride in selecting water resistant leathers and corrosion resistant eyelets that stand fast against the elements while the outsole design maximises the area in contact with the ground to provide superior grip when combined with our unique rubber compound. The result is a premium boat shoe that performs on deck when you need it to.

Micro-Fresh®
FRESHER FOR LONGER

Micro-Fresh® is a British made, smart antimicrobial technology that contains natural active ingredients to block the growth and spread of pathogenic and odour-causing bacteria.

The innovative technology works by diffusing Ions through bacteria cells via a process called ion-exchange. This action disrupts the cell wall, preventing growth. In addition, the positively-charged ions become attracted to the negatively charged bacteria cell enzymes, which stops bacteria from producing energy.

Finally, these ions attach to the cell DNA, blocking replication and the formation of any new cells. The result is a Nano-free technology that is kind to the human skin and tough on harmful bacteria. It is free from restricted substances and SVHCs.

WUZZO STORY

ORIGINAL LV18 BEING SAND BLASTED

FINISHED WUZZO BEING LAUNCHED

In her working days, WUZZO was a rowing lifeboat that served to protect the crew who maintained a Trinity House lightvessel off the coast of Harwich. During the nineteenth century they were predominantly positioned off England's east coast and the approaches to the River Thames, where there were many treacherous shoals. The majority of lightvessels were decommissioned during the 1970s – 1980s and replaced with light floats or Lanby buoys which were vastly cheaper to maintain. In 1983 this hull was decommissioned and sold to the Bird family, modified with a forepeak and engine and kept on the River Crouch in Essex. Her name WUZZO is derived from the French for Bird (Oiseau) but spelt in simplistic form. The bird depicted in the WUZZOS® logo connects the boat and family together with an interesting story that emulates from the turn of the twentieth century...
